

You feel yourself nod in agreement, and hear yourself say, "Don't say I didn't warn you." You look into the hourglass, turn it upside down, and see the white dust fall down. As you watch this for a few more seconds, the silent film of the Unwindings flicker on, from behind your eyes.